M'KINLEY ON FREE SILVER.

WAS RUNNING FOR CONGRESS.

His Emphatic Declaration Gained Him Many Votes of Silver Republicans.

"I have always been in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of the silver product of the United States, and have so voted on at least two occasions during the time I have been in public life."-WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 29.-The full text of the letter which Maj. McKinley wrote to Hon. E. S. Perkins, member of the Ohio Legislature from Medina County, and extracts of which were read at Akron yesterday by Gen. Finlay, are given below. The utterance from the present Republican candidate for the presidency is an une quivocal declaration in favor of free silver. It was written under date of Sept. 27, 1890, when Maj. McKinley was Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives. The letter

"Hon, E. S. Perkins, Weymouth, O .- Dear Sir: I have been so busy for the past three weeks that it has been impossible for me to give any attention to matters in the district, which fact, I believe, my friends will appreciate. I have only been waiting for a moment's time that I might answer two or three letters heretofore received from gentlemen in Medina County, in relation to my position on silver and other questions. Al have always been in favor of the free unlimited coinage of the silver product of the United States, and have so voted on at least two occasions during the time I have been in public life.

"I was not willing to extend this coinage to the silver of the world and open our mints to them without charge as proposed by gentlemen on the floor of the House.

"My purpose was to secure immediate legislation that would credit and dignify our silver coin. I believe the law which we enacted this session will accomplish that result. It utilizes every dollar's worth and even more. The value of that legislation has already been apparent in the enhanced value given to silver. You may remember, as indicating my position upon this subject, that I voted to pass the sil- hundred strong. Resolutions censuring the ver bill in the Forty-fifth or Forty-sixth students of Yale College for the heathenish Congress over the veto of President Haves. "On the subject of trusts I have already expressed my views by my vote on the Sherman bill, which has become a law. I shall be very glad to write you at any time upon any subject that I voted on you may wish to be informed upon

"With me political and economic ques tions are a conviction, and while I may not always be right, I am always willing to let those whose suffrage I seek know exactly what they are.

"WILLIAM M'KINLEY, JR." In explanation of this letter Mr. Perkins makes the following statement:

"The foregoing is a true copy of a letter now in my possession, received about Oct. 1, 1890. The fact that I was an outspoken silver man and Chairman of Medina County Republican Centra! Committee will account for the letter. It certainly induced the most ardent support of Mai. McKinley in his contest for Congress by myself and other silver Republicans to whom I showed the

CANTON WILL VOTE AGAINST M'KINLEY.

HE INDORSED IT UNEQUIVO- Statement Made by Henry George After a Careful Investigation on the Ground.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Journal this morning contains ap interesting article by Henry George, who is studying the political situation at Canton, O. Mr. George says:

In Chicago and Cleveland I had so much specific information of the manner in which the employes of factories and mines and railroads were being shipped to Canton to make a showing of the demand of labor for McKinley's election, that I came down for a passing visit to the Republican mecca and a glimpse of the ranks of the admirers of the prophet of Protection and Prosperity. And, as to what I had heard so specifically from those who are in a position to know, I secured in a Cleveland hotel a little Republican confirma-

To a stranger who gets here and goes to a first-class hotel, Canton seems at first a veritable McKinley town, for he sees everywhere McKinley emblems and badges and flags. But it did not take me long to find the place of business of a man whom I know as an old and stalwart single-taxer. Then I immediately got into a different atmosphere, and found that the opposition to McKinley in his own city was vigorous and confident, expecting to carry for Bryan, McKinley's own county, his own city and his own precinct.

I have talked to-day with intelligent and reliable men, Democrats, Populists, Republicans and Prohibitionists, who propose to vote for Bryan, and found them not only most hopeful, but confident of this, and to be able to assign reasons for their faith.

Stark County, of which Canton is the principal town, gave to Bushnell, the Republican candidate for Governor in 1895, when the disgust with the Cleveland Administration, among those who had elected him, brought the last high-tide of Republican success, a vote of 9,599. At the same time it gave the Democratic candidate, Campbell, 7,498; the Populist, Coxey, 2,488; the Prohibitionist, 524, and the Socialist, 118. Thus, a union even of the Democrats and Populists on this vote would have defeated the Republicans, whose vote was 383 less than that of the two combined.

In the city of Canton Bushnell had a plurality of 547, but his vote was 141 below that of the Democrats and Populists combined, and 284 below that of the combined opposition, while in the last local contest in the spring preceding the election of Bushnell, the Democratic candidate, the present Mayor, received 130 more votes than the Republican candidate, although the Populist candidate had more than a thousand. So that the latest figures clearly give both county and city to the Democrats and Populists when united.

Now, in the national election of November, the Populists to a man may be counted for Bryan, for they are working in their own way like beavers. The Socialists will hardly count for anything, while as for the Prohibitionists, the estimates that I get here coincide with the estimate that I got in Cleveland from leading Prohibitionists, that two-thirds of the Prohibitionist vote of Ohio this year will go for Bryan.

NATIONAL LEADERS THERE.

Encouraging Reports Received and Senator Gorman Will Lead a Vigorous Campaign for Bryan.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A conference of great interest to the Democratic party was great interest to the Democratic party was held last night at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, at which were Senator Jones, Chairman of the National Committee; Chairman Faulkner of the National Congressional Committee; Arthur Sewall of Maine and Senator Arthur Pugh Gorman of Maryland.

Senator Gorman came to the city with Senator Faulkner at the invitation of Chairman Jones in order to take over the rediffical man Jones in order to talk over the political situation as it exists in the East and middle West, and to arrange the itinerary of Mr.

Bryan from now until election.

The meeting is thought to have had for its object, besides, the plans for a vigorous campaign in the Eastern States. The reports received from the Eastern States by the officers of the National Committee in the past few weeks have been more encouraging, showing a phenomenal growth in favor of silver in the agricultural districts and laboring communities of what were considered by the Republicans their safest States.

This state of affairs makes it necessary, in view of the fight now being waged in the Middle Western States, that the National Committee turn its attention toward the East. Bryan from now until election MEXICO, Mo., Sept. 29.—The Missour Military Academy, which was destroyed by fire last week, will be temporarily removed to Culver City, Ind., and run in cor with the academy at that place, Col. Fleet The offer he has received is a most ad not only taken advantage of a propos that will redound greatly to his benefit, but it at once raises the Culver Academy to the front rank of military institutions in the United States. Mr. H. H. Culver, President of the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis, tenders to Col. Fleet and the M. M. A. cadets the use of the Academy at Culver City. The buildings are all new and modern construction, and are absolutely fire-proof, nothing but stone, brick and steel being used in their construction.

construction, and are absolutely fire-proof, nothing but stone, brick and steel being used in their construction.

They are in a very desirable location, being on the banks of Lake Maxinkuckee, in Northern Indiana, on the Vandalia road, about 30 miles from St. Louis. Nearly all of the cadets who attended the academy here have signified their intention of going to Culver City and they will all meet in St. Louis next Monday and be conveyed in special cars to their destination, the Vandalia road performing this service free. The entire faculty of the Missouri Military Academy will be retained and will supplant the instructors of the Culver institution.

The citizens of Mexico are alive to the importance of the retention of the institution here and a public meeting will be held to-night to devise means for the rebuilding of the academy. They naturally appreciate Col. Culver's offer, but the removal is regarded as only temporary. The institution has been of untold benefit here and the citizens will see that it is kept here. It is more than probable that fire-proof buildings will be constructed in time for the opening of the next session in September, 1897.

GOLD PILING UP.

The Reserve Will Soon Be Up to $135,-000,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29 .- The Director of the Mint has received a telegram from the San Francisco Mint stating that about $4,000,000 in gold was expected to arrive there from Australia a week from next Friday. Information also comes from heat from that the Bank of England expects to lose $5.000.000 to the United States before the end of the week. Both of these shipments are expected ultimately to reach the Treasury, which, together with the amount already in sight, would bring the gold reserve approximately to $125,000,000.

Mr. Bryan Will Visit the State and Things Will Boom From Then Till Election.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 29.-The Re publicans have lost hope of keeping the Populists in line. Another conference on the electoral ticket fusion will be held between the Populists and Democrats here this afternoon, and there seems no doubt that a fusion agreement will be reached on a basis of five Populists and ten Democratic electors. The opposition of the middle-of-the road men, it is thought, will not amount to much, as many who opposed fusion at the electors. The opposition of the middle-of-the road men, it is thought, will not amount to much, as many who opposed fusion at the last meeting now favor it. There are Democrats who have been saying they would declare for Paimer and Buckner whenever Populists were placed on the State elector of ticket, but the free silver managers are not inclined to believe there are many men who will be offended. It is pretty well understood that the Populiss State ticket will eventually be withdrawn. There is now fusion between the two parties in about half the Congressional districts.

Republicans fear that in the anxiety to carry the State for the cardidate for President the Congressional and Legislative campaign has not received the attention it deserves. It is explained by those who have something to do with the management of the campaign that it has been difficult to interest voters in purely local matters. "They have been so busy discussing the money question that they have not had time to think of anything else," said one representative of the State Committee.

The silver Democratic managers are in better spirits than they were a week ago. It is apparent to the visitor at headquarters in our term of the state that it has been difficult donly five persons engaged at headquarters; now twenty men and women are employed and they all appear to be busy. Allen W. Clark, the Chief of the Literature Bursau and "king" of the silverites, does most of the talking for the managers. He says that it is a fact that the party has made great progress the last ten days. "I feel more encouraged now than I did just after the State Convention," said he. "I have always believed we'd carry the State, but until recently our forces have not been cemented and our people have not been at work. Everybody is at work now and we are making any great number of converts, but those members of our party who were inclined to be in doubt are getting in line. There is no question that the Republicans are badly scared."

There is additional evidence that the

In these caucuses it had been agreed that the man to be named in place of Mr. Thacher should be W. F. Porter, the nominee for Lieutenant-Governor, and in his place Fred C. "I come before you with the same Democracy you taught me in this county when I lived here; no new faith do I brins. Were you wrong then or are you wrong now?"

Turning to the record shows Mr. Trimble to be mistaken. In 1878 he ran for Prosecuting Attorney of this county and here is the Democratic platform of 1878:

"We regard the national banking system as being oppressive and burdensome and demand the abolition and retirement from circulation of all national bank notes and the issue of legal tender notes in lieu thereof, and in quantities sufficient to supply the wholesome and necessary demands of the whole country and that all greenbacks so issued shall be used in the purchase and retirement of the bonds of the United States, so that the interest-bearing debt of the country may be lessened to the extent of the greenbacks thus put in circulation."

In some of the schools the children actually rebelled against enduring the hardship any longer, and many went home sick before the principals inally found general dismissal necessary.

At most of the schools that closed the children were marched out in the driving rain, but they appeared to be satisfied as long as they escaped remaining longer in the damp and chilly school rooms.

The schools that the closed are the Clinton. Dozier, Gravois, Lafayette and Lafayette Branch, Shaw, Aldridge, Delaney and Wheatley.

When Superintendent of Construction Kelly was asked pagarding the closing of the schools he first said that none had been reported to his department. After the list had been obtained from another source he said that the department would get all the schools in shape as soon as possible. He thought the Dozier, Delaney and Wheatley schools would be ready for occupancy within three or four days. Shaw and Aldridge, he said, might not be ready for a week. He did not say why the schools had not been made ready for occupancy before they were opened this season.

The fact that hundreds of children are not pancy before they were opened this sea-son.

The fact that hundreds of children are not now at school and that many are seriously fill as a result of their exposure in damp and childy school rooms is due entirely to care-lessness on the part of the School Board. The members were very busy about heating contracts—too busy to attend to keeping in repair the apparatus aiready purchased.

He was locked up, the charge against him being embezziement.
Warren, who is about 30 years old, said that for two years previous to last July he had been a practicing attorney in Baltimore, and that just prior to his leaving there he had a chent who was suing the City Traction Co. for damages for injuries sustained in a street car accident. Just before the case was to be called in court, the client settled with the company for $300 cash, the company paying the amount to Werren as the attorney in the case.

He admits that he put all of the money in his pocket and came to St. Louis, without again seeing the client. It is for that that he was arrested here. He says he will return without requisition papers.

She had announced that she would show how to make whole wheat bread. Whole wheat bread is her ideal bread. She takes every opportunity to advocate the use of whole wheat flour. It was for this reason that the ladies were unusually anxious to hear her Monday.

Her recipes given out at the lecture were: Rolls—Scald one pint of milk; when cool, add one tablespoonful of butter, half teaspoonful salt, and half yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water. Stir in sufficient flour to make a dough. Knead well and

MADE STIRRING SPEECHES AT PATERSON AND NEWARK, N. J.

HE HAD LARGE AUDIENCES.

People at Providence, R. I., Also Heard the Democratic Nomines Advocate Free Silver.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 .- William J. Bryan returned yesterday afternoon from his New England tour, and after spending about ninutes at the Hotel Bartholdi im mediately repaired to Northern New Jersey, escorted by a committee of New Jersey Democrats, where two of the biggest meetof his Eastern tour were held.

At Paterson the crowd was so great that the police had to fight to make a passage-the stand, but just as he was about to begin his address the electric lights suddenly went out, and the vast throng was plunged into darkness.

Great excitement prevailed for a time, and the nominee threatened to leave the stand, but while the hubbub was at its height the light was restored, the police relieved the creaking stand of some of its surplus weight, and Mr. Bryan spoke. He said:

Ladiea and Gentlemen—My idea of politics its that the issues shall be presented by party platforms. All parties have had their conventions. They have adopted their platforms; they have nominated their candidates, and the candidates stand for the principles embodied in the platforms, and you, the sovereigns of this land, are now considering and discussing the questions, in order to decide upon which side your influence shall be cast.

The paramount question of this campaign is the money question, and the kind of policy we shall have is to be determined for the time being by this election. Upon that is sue the parties are squarely divided. The Republican party is in favor of maintaining the present financial system until foreign nations shall join in relieving us of it. The Democratic party declares in favor of immediate abandonment of the gold standard and the substitution of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Bimetallism can only exist where two metals are admitted to the mints on equal terms and coined into money of legal tender at a ratio fixed by law, and our platform not only declares for free colnage and unlimited coinage, but it fixed the ratio at 16 to 1, the present ratio. Not only do we declare in favor of bimetallism at the legal ratio, but fearing somebody might desire to misconstrue that platform and postpone the advantages of bimetallism at the legal ratio, but fearing somebody might desire to misconstrue that platform and postpone the advantages of bimetallism at the legal ratio, but fearing somebody might desire to misconstrue that platform and postpone the advantages of bimetallism at the legal ratio,

It is not strange that the heads of all the trusts in the country are opposed to the Chicago ticket, because the Chicago ticket is opposed to all the trusts of the country. It is not strange that the money-changers are opposed to the Chicago ticket, because the Chicago ticket is opposed to the money-changers' policy. It is not strange that the syndicates which grow fat while the people grow lean are opposed to the Chicago ticket, because the success of the Chicago ticket, because the success of the Chicago ticket means that those syndicates shall cease to fatten on the adversities of the people. I believe, my friends, that the time has come when we must restore to the people the right to run the government, and that we must restore the government to the old policy, whereby it guarantees equal rights to all and gives privileges to no one.

My friends, our opponents sometimes ask us how their money is going to get among the people in case of an increase in the volume of money. We reply that money has to be created before it has a chance to get in circulation among the people. If your laws are such that the Government does not create enough money, then, my friends, the quantity in circulation must be less than the people need.

When our opponents tell us that a dollar is a thing with which law has nothing to do we can reply to them that every dollar in existence is a creature of law. The gold standard is the standard of the miser. The gold standard makes it more profitable to hoard money than to invest it. It is a bad thing for any country to have a financial system which raises the value of a dollar and lowers the value of all property. That is what we have been having, and the people are so tired of the scarcity of money and the rise in the value of dollars that they can not be terrified when othey have undertaken to secure a larger amount of standard money by adding silver to gold as the money of this nation.

Mr. Bryan closed his speech with an appeal to the voters to study the issues and vote according to their judgment. Great applause followed.

Speech at Newark.

From Paterson Mr. Bryan and party went to Newark, where an immense audience was assembled. Mr. Bryan said:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow-Citizens: We are in the midst of a campaign when will be memorable in the history of this country. It is not strange that in such a campaign deep feeling is aroused on both sides. We are combating a system of finance, intrenched behind a strong bulwark. We are combating a system of finance, intrenched behind a strong bulwark. We are combating a system that is able to call to its support all those influences which have been in the habit of dominating politics, we realize the magnitude of the undertaking, and we realize that necessity for the support all those influences which have been stream and the magnitude of the undertaking, and we realize what it means to lose this campaign. We realize what it means to declare, as this nation has never deals to declare, as this ity to conduct its own business.

"When other nations have been scrambling for gold, when other nations have been pushing up the price of the yellow netal, we have sen representatives abroad to ask foreign nations to join with us in restoring bimetallism, always reserving the right to restore it ourselves if they would not yield to our entreaties. But this year the Republican party, in its national convention, expressly declared that we are no longer an independent nation and must accept the financial policy which foreign nations desire that we shall have.

"Our opponets tell us that we must have a gold standard because England has. I say to you, my friends, that one of the reasons why we cannot have a gold standard is because of my matter they have raised the value of gold, and for us to throw our influence on that side is simply to help to murder others, while we commit suicide ourselves. Mr. Bryan spoke yesterday at Providence, R. I., taking for his text these words, from a book by Prof. Benjamin Andrews of Brown University, Providence:

"It is always assumed or admitted that the ideal sorb of money would be money with a unit having a general, steadfast purchasing power." In this definition," Mr. Bryan said, "Prof. Andrews plants himself upon a solid rock.

Mr. Bryan argued that there can be no material difference between the builion and the coinage value so long as one can be converted into the other at will. He con-

the coinage value so long as one can be converted into the other at will. He continued:

"Bome of our opponents have been calculating how much money they can make under the free coinage by buying silver for 50 cents and having it coined into 100 cents. Whenever I hear a person use that argument, I am reminded of the story which Ignatius Donnelly told, and which has been told by me before. Now, my friends, if any of you held silver buillon, would you sell it to anybody for half price, and let the producer make the profit? Of course not, and yet you hear this argument every day by those who seem unable to comprehend even the plainest roots that are presented in the money question. My friends, if we differ as to the merits of our policy we might then discuss the respective merits of opposing policies.

"But the Republican party does not present a finant proposed policy to the American policy to the American proposed policy the country, proposes to maintain a platform of the American proposed policy to the American proposed policy the country proposes to maintain a platform of the American proposes to the American proposes to the American proposes to the American proposes to the American proposes to metallism. But the Republican party promises to maintain that policy until the foreign nations shall have come to our relief. Every person who believes that we must get down on our knees and ask the aid of the foreign nations before we can legislate on the money question ought to vote the Republican ticket. But, my friends, if you believe that the United States has a financial policy of its own, suited to its own people, administering to the needs of those who live here, then you can only express yourselves when you act with those who advocate independent bimeallism at 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation on earth.

advocate independent bimetallism at 16 to I, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation on earth.

"If the financier who wants the Government to issue bonds so that he can buy bonds has a right to use his vote to keep this Government issuing bonds all the time and piling up debts upon the people, then you who have to pay taxes, to pay those debts, have a right to use your ballots to protect yourself against this unjust burden. If the banker cannot only use his vote the advocate and support the financial doctriffs which he wants, but attempts to use the vote of every man who borrows money at the banks, attempts to use his power as a money loaner and coerce the men who patronize him, then you who are terrorized under that sort of system have a right to use the Australian ballot to rid this country of its bondage. And I say to you who are employes, if your employers are so much indebted at the banks that they have not the power to speak out in their own defense; if their obligations are such that they must keep quiet, lest their throats be cut, my friends, you as employes have a right to step in and rescue your employes from financial bondage.

"I want you people to remember that in this contest we have arrayed against us all the combinations of wealth. We have mone of those on our side. The coal trust is against us, and it can raise the price of your coal and then, when you have paid that price, the coal trust contributes a portion of what you paid in order to insure the continuation of that trust. The great banking institutions which are contributing so liberally to the Republican campaign fund can afford to do so if they exact from you enough money in addition to pay for their contributions and leave a large profit.

"I want you to understand the importance of this controversy. It is a question of whether the people have a right to use it and plunder everybody else for the enrichment of themselves. In our platform we declare that the Government and have a right to use it and plunder everybody el

Recognizing these facts, the National Association of Letter-Carriers made provision for an annual tribute of affection, and Sunset Cox Branch, No. 41, is charged with the task of carrying out the wishes of the association.

Tore Up His Sunday Paper.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 29.—Rev. Mr. Washburn of Falmouth, Mass., preached at the North Congregationalist Church Sunday, and caused a sensation by his violent denunciation of Sunday newspapers. He purchased a Boston paper on the streets, and from his pulpit proceeded to read extracts and inveigh against it and other newspapers of the same kind. He then tore it sheet by sheet and threw the remains in front of the pulpit, with a dramatic gesture, saying that while the saloon slays its thousands, the Sunday newspaper alays its tens of thousands, as its influence is more far reaching. He claimed that its columns picture the worst side of American life, and give the people a wrong impression. cial to the Post-Dispatch.

ECKELS SQUELCHES IT.

Comptroller Eckels possesses but a modicum of political sense, but he has been quick to perceive that the attempt to use the Comptroller's office for weaving a campaign lie around Col. Lon V. Stephens would prove disastrous as well as disgraceful should he permit himself to be a party to it.

To the "petitioners" who are endeavoring for campaign purposes to reopen the said that as nine years had elapsed Mr. Stephens assumed the trust, "petitioners") could wait until after the election.

Of course this squelches the scheme. After the election neither the "petitioners" nor Filley's hoodlums will feel any further interest in the matter. It will be swept out in the rubbish along with the other flotsam and jetsam of the cam-

The Civic Federation of Chicago is justly chargeable with having brought about more and worse conditions of misgovernment than existed before it went into government regulation. Its most active members are tax-dodgers and men with axes to grind. The officials it has placed in power are more inefficient and corrupt than any that ever preceded them. The police force which it has orgamized on a life tenure basis is admittedly the most worthless and incompetent of any ever maintained under the old

The utter and complete fallure of the Chicago Civic Federation, however should not be a discouragement to St Louis reformers. On the contrary, St Louis should profit by Chicago's mistakes. By avoiding Chicago causes, Chi cago effects may also be avoided. And the first great lesson the Chicago Federon has to teach the St Louis Federa tion is this: Keep out the frauds and the

POLITICS IN BUSINESS.

In the discharge of Joseph Gordon because he intends to vote for Bryan and Sewall, the Lindell Railway Co. has declared that it cares nothing for the patronage of those who support that ticket. It asserts, in discharging men for political reasons, its willingness to draw the line of politics in business affairs, and its refusal to maintain business relations its managers.

The case of Gordon has been reported in the Post-Dispatch. There is no denial of the fact that he was discharged on account of his political views. He was a Lindell Line conductor, and a member -partisan St. Louis Working men's Bryan Club. As a member of that organization he fell under the displeasure of the street railway management. Being called into the private office of the Super-intendent he was asked directly whether or not he is a silver supporter. On replying that he was, the Secretary of the Superintendent said to him: "Men who have for Reven constituted in the support of the superintendent said to him: "Men who have for Reven constituted in the support of the suppor

CLEVELAND, FUSIONIST AND CONFUSIONIST.

In New York the Standard Oil organs whose prophet is Cleveland reiterate that Bryan is not a Democrat because he voted a fusionist ticket in 1892. Of course such talk is imbecile now when Democratic success depends on the readiness of all Democrats to unite with all other enemies of plutocracy as Bryan did four years ago.

But since the Cleveland bolters to McKinley have raised the question and insist on having it discussed, it is just as well to recall what happened four years ago and to remind the country that Cleveland himself was elected as a Fusionist, as was his decoy duck and scape-goat, John M. Palmer.

The fusion in Nebraska and in every other Northwestern State was brought about by Cleveland's campaign committee. It was in Cleveland's interest and Cleveland was anxious that wherever, through the fusion of Democrats and Populists, States could not be carried for the Democratic party direct, they should be held away from Harrison and given to Populist electors.

That was the plan of campaign in the West and it was carried out under Cleveland's direction through his friends in the National Committee, on the coinage and anti-monopoly planks of the Democratic national platform.

Cleveland ran for President as a fusionist in the Republican States of the Northwest on the strongest representations that silver would be treated on an equality with gold, that an anti-monopoly policy would be enforced and the whole power of the Government used to check plutocracy.

Within three months after his second in uguration it was evident that the country had been basely deceived, and that William C. Whitney and his associated plutocrats of the Standard Oil Trust were the power behind the throne, stronger at Washington than the Democratic party and for the time being more powerful than the people.

Every pledge made to the West and Northwest was violated. A trust attorney was apointed Attorney-General. The Wall Street financial policy now advocated by McKinley and Hanna was adopted. The whole force of the Government was used to increase and make permanent the national debt so that the holders of United States bonds might use them as a basis for corporation notes to take the place of silver. The most impudent and unprecedented use of the power of the Government was made in supporting the "bull" side of the gold market. The gold corner which was broken when Gould and Fisk attempted it under Grant was reinaugurated and made successful. A tariff bill was drawn by the Administration, with Carlisle and Wilson as its sponsors, with free trade in Western products and a higher protection for New England than was given by the Republican war tariff. Straight-out Democrats were kept out of office or driven out. The power of patronage was used as it had never been used in politics even in the most corrupt times of the Reconstruction period. And at last the Administration culminated, as it was logically bound to do, in the present attempt to turn over the Government to the alliance between domestic monopolists and foreign

In the face of all this, Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Belmont, the New York agent of the Rothschilds, have the assurance to pretend that in this campaign they stand for "conscience" and that they are all that is left of Democracy!

No party in this country was ever before betrayed as Cleveland betrayed the Democrats when, being in power and, as he thought, their master, he dared to show himself openly as the intriguer and ward politician of the school of Kinderhook he has always been. It was from him and his example that his admirer and imitator, John Boyd Thacher, learned to send men to the New York State Convention to pledge him fully to the Democratic platform, so that having secured the nomination he might defy the party and repudiate the platform.

If Americans stand amazed at such unutterable baseness, it is because after four years of Wall Street domination at Washington, they are still unable to understand even remotely the possibilities of degradation incident to plutocratic control of New York politics.

it, keep guards at its entrances to ask the politics of intending passengers, with orders to exclude all not for McKinley receivership of the Fifth National Bank, It may even, as a concession, go through he said that as nine years had elapsed this campaign without ejecting passengers who have paid their fare and express an intention of supporting Bryan, but it has certainly declared its willingness to do without the support of everybody but the gold people. It has invited all others to walk several blocks, if necessary, to patronize another line.

market must come to him. Of course it is nonsense to say that the Chicago headquarters will be closed. This fight will be fought to a finish, but the sooner the friends of silver realize that their campaign is dreadfully pered for lack of money to run it the better. The emergency is pressing. Time i

Banking is a necessity; but so is every ther legitimate business. Other business cannot afford to pay the interest on a billion of bonds issued merely to per-petuate national banks. There is no better paper than that issued by the Government and upon which no one is re quired to pay any interest.

The Chicago Times-Herald says that between 1860 and 1865, when gold was at a premium, prices advanced 165 per cent. It does not say, however, that a silver dollar would then buy more than a gold paper dollar.

The McKinley orators who are co West will not be able to "pick Mr. Bryan to pieces." In a joint debate with any of them he would be victor, not only because he is a great debater, but for the reason that he has the best cause.

Broiled Sweetbreads.

For this dainty way of preparing sweet-breads the small ones will do as well as the larger ones. Get from the butcher some wooden skewers and cut some slices of bacon. Blanch the sweetbreads, trim them tastily and skewer alternately with the ba-con. Melt some butter, paint the sweet-breads with it and broil over a bright fire. Serve hot on toast. Oystera, small reed birds or nicely cut raw chicken can be done in the same way and will be found very palatable.

In Paris the fad for decorating gloves with precious stones has been generally adopted. The jewels selected are diamonds, pearls, rubles and emeralds, or any stone that contrasts effectively with the color of the glove. The ornamentation appears on the stitching, or is applied halfway round the wrist on the shorter lengths, while on long gloves it finishes the top to simulate a bracelet. The jewels are securely held by a diminutive gold band, which fastens on the inner side.

RILEY GRANNAN RULED OFF.

Turf Congress Meeting Was Not Marked by Any Sensational Proceedings—Sporting News.

With the Jockey Club and Western Turf Congress in session simultaneously, the American turf world is liable to undergo a series of seismic shocks that may quite change the old happy-go-lucky order of things.

The session of the Jockey Club Stewards yesterday was certainly startling.

The most astounding performance of these gentlemen, who have done so much to purify the Eastern turf, was the ruling off of Riley Grannan, the meteoric young plunger, who has been more talked about during the past three years than any man on the turf. Grannan, a few years ago, was a bell-boy in a New Orleans hotel. In four short years he grew to the size of Pittsburg Phil, who, until that time was the greatest gambler en the turf.

Two years ago he went out to San Frankers of turned to the East at Christmas $250,000 to will not come up directly.

The Arkansas turfman will, however, and after a three months' sojourn returned to the East at Christmas $250,000 to will not come up directly.

The Arkansas turfman will, however, and after a three months' sojourn returned to the East at Christmas $250,000 to while the for Mr. Carter in these places is not good enough to ride for Mr. Carter in these supervision at Latomia and Windsor, and that he cannot see why a boy that is good enough to ride for Mr. Carter in these places is not good enough to ride for Mr. Carter in these many sumbor of horses he wished to enter in one race, he others are presentatives of a certain stable or stables. Thus a shrewd own and the returned to the feat when an appeal bereat in the owners and breeders' rights, also in the others run for the public to lose on.

believe he ever entertained a crooked thought in his life. Still I ame not astonished to see him ruled off by the Jockey Club.

"You see, Riley is fond of newspaper notoriety, and he loves to see the tales of his winnings and losses in print. So if he meets a reporter, he says: I lost $50,000, or I won $20,000 to-day." It will be true, too, for Riley never lies about his winnings or losings.

"Well, it gets into print and people talk about it. This talk does not help racing in the East, where technically betting is not supposed to exist under the Raines aw. You know the big moguis of the Jockey Club, Belmont et al., had a hard time getting a law passed to allow racing. Well, when the New York Parkhursts heard about Riley winning and losing $30,000 and $30,000, they began to think that they were gambling at the tracks. They were getting ready for another crusade.

"I heard some time back that the Jockey Club did not want this kind of notoriety and that they were going to soak Riley on the first opportunity. Well, they did it. The cause they gave was weak. Supposing you bet $30,000 or a known and the boy wins for you on a good ride, is it not an incentive to honesty and further good effort if you give him $500 for his work? Of course you more abad ride on somebody else's think Riley ever vid that.

League President Thinks Cleveland

Should Have Won the Pennant.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 .- Nick Young. the President of the National Base Ball League, in an interview attributed the fact that the championship race, so far as the leaders were concerned, was not as close and interesting near the finish of the season in comparison with that of previous years and interesting near the finish of the season in comparison with that of previous years partly because of the "unfortunate circumstances for which Mr. Tebeau of Cleveland was held responsible." The occurrence incident thereto President Young thinks doubtless worried Tebeau and his men, as they suspected that the outsome of the case might prove serious and jeopardize their chances in the championship contest.

"This affair teaches the League one lesson, and that is that something must be done to stop the differences between the umpires and players. On that score, however, there is not so much to complain of as in previous years. The umpires, on the whole, have given more satisfaction to the players and public than ever before and I am heartily pleased with their work. To be sure there were the usual differences between a captain and an umpire, but nothing serious resulted. These differences will always occur for they are inspired by the seal of both teams, their desire to win.

Mr. Young says the coaching question and that affecting the Temple Cup series will come up for consideration at the next League meeting. The League will analyze the coaching question theroughly and will probably ask the opinion of some of the older players and umpires before decisive action is taken.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 29.—The ruling off of Riley Granman, Kentucky's noted boy plunger, by the New York Jockey Club and the refusing of the entries of Will Wallace, has caused much indignation among Kentucky breeders and turfmen.

While Kentuckians acknowledge Granman as a plunger taking desperate chances, they claim he is strictly bonest in his way. Will Wallace is highly respected here. He is a nephew of Byron McClelland and by his shrewdness in turf ethics he is fast making a forture.

The action of the Jockey Club is being roundly criticised and it is doubtful if the Western Turf Congress recognizes the Same.

League President Thinks Cleveland

"Billy McGunnigle, manager of the Colonels, has one on Fred Clarke," says Frank Selee. "Last June when the Colonels played in Washington they met President Cleveland at the White House reception. Mac. lined up the players and introduced them to the President, who was a friend of Mac's years ago in Buffalo. Fred Clarke's turn to grasp the hand of the President, was followed by a stiffed giggle from Dogsy Miller and Bill Hill, who were within earshot of the remark that Fred made. Fred was quite embarrassed. He didn't know whether to address Mr. Cleveland as Mr. President, Yeur Excellency, or Your Honor. Now a bell player is in the habit of addressing his superior officer as Captain or "Cap" and that was the title Clarke applied to Cleveland. In response to the cheery "good afternoon" of the President, Clarke said: "Glad to make your acquaintance, Cap." The blunt, plain manner of Clarke's, and his unique style of salutation amused Mr. Cleveland, who responded with a goodnatured smile. onels, has one on Fred Clarke," says Frank

TURF BODIES

The session of the Jockey Club Stewards yesterday was certainly startling.

The most astounding performance of these gentlemen, who have done so much to purify the Eastern turk, was the ruling off of Niley Grannan, the meteoric young plunger, who has been more talked about during the past three years than any man on the turk.

Grannan, a few years ago, was a bell-boy in a New Orleans hotel. In four short years he grew to the size of Pittsburg Phil, who, until that time was the greatest gambler on the turk.

Two years ago he went out to San Francisco and after a three months' sojourn returned to the East at Christmas $50,000 to the good. After he left the coast the tury papers were not slow to accuse him of winning it by impeachable methods. This angered the plunger and he returned to "show that he could beat the races," as he said. He dropped all he won and more before May.

This was not the only question of unfair dealing ever brought abainst Grannan, it cut no figure in his case with the Jockey Club. According to the report sent out he was ruled off for giving presents of money to jockeys.

In the case of his boy Morrison, who was set down by Judges Carter and Murphy for bad riding, Mr. Modquigan has not theled an appeal is taken it must be filed within five days after the ruling appealed from is made. Mr. McGulgan has not filed within five days after the ruling appealed from is made. Mr. McGulgan has neglected to do this, hence the case will not come up directly.

The Arkansas turfman will, however, to sake to be heard in the case. He says that while Mr. Carter set Morrison down in St. Louis he allowed him to ride under his suppervision at Latonia and Windsor, and that he cannot see why a boy that is good enough to ride for him St. Louis.

WHY RILEY GOT THE HOOKS.

COMMIE WAS JEALOUS.

Chris Was Forced to Sell Beckley the "Only" Base Ball General. "When the old St. Louis Whites of the Vesters League were disbanded in 1888 Westers League were disbanded in 1888

Jake Beckley, who played first base, was regarded as one of the most promising young players in his position, and Von der Ahe wanted Comiskey to hold him and use him for a utility man," says Scrappy Joyce. "But Comiskey realizing that Jake was a corking first baseman—the equal, perhaps, of Commile—objected to Jake's presence on the team, and Von der Ahe was forced to part with the big fellow. Had Beckley remained in St. Louis and played with the Browns the chances are that he would have supplanted Comiskey at first base, though Commile would have continued as manager of that team, even if Beckley proved that he was a stronger hitter and just as good a fielder. It often happens in base bail that a player misses the best chance in his life because he is unfortunate enough to be the rival of his captain. Rivairy and jealousy is rife in base bail. The game reminds me of the stage in this respect."

Chess Entries.

BUDA-PESTH, Sept. 29.—Up to the present the following European and American experts have entered the international chess-masters tournament, a contest which will begin in this city next Monday:

America—Pilisbury and Steinitz, the latter, however, under the condition that Lasker will also enter.

France—Jancewski.

Russia—Tschigorin, Alpin, Von Popiel.

Austria—Marcovachiechter and Albion.

Germany—Tarrasch, Schallopp, Walbrodt (the former two have not actually entered).

Owing to the proposed Lasker vs. Steinitz match to be played in Moscow in November it is still very doubtful whether Lasker can be induced to enter the tournament.

Mr. Gottschalk had a small part, but he made it one of the most enjoyable features of the play. But the real star of the cast was Mr. Crompton. As a kindly, sympathetic old man, bubbling over with unconscious humor and full of the milk of human kindness, he established his reputation with those who saw him as the most artistic old man character actor alive. The other members of the cast did excellent work.

It was regretted by the many admirers of Mr. J. E. Dodson-that he was not in last night's cast. However, he has a strong part in "Bohemia," the bill for to-night. Miss Annie Irish also appears to-night.

They Claim That the City Democracy Broke Its Agreement.

The Populist city leaders claim that at their convention Saturday night they were led to believe by Frank E. Richey, who presented the proposition from Chairman Brady of the City Committee and ex-Mayor Brady of the City Committee and ex-Mayor Noonan of the City Campaign Committee that they would in return for their indorsement of the city and Senatorial tickets secure one representative in each of the six Legislative dictricts in the city. The conventions in the Second, Fourth and Fifth Districts each gave the Populists a representative, but the Third and Sixth Districts nominated only Democrats, while the First District postponed their convention.

Under their resolution the Populists will not indorse the city and Senatorial tickets until they are duly notified that they have been given one man in each district.

the first witness. He testified that the burden. actual effect of the existing difference in as high as they are at present. He thought the rates were maintained because no pressure had been brought to bear to have them reduced. It was the aim of his read to lower less than car load rates whenever the car load rates were lowered.

The maintenance of the high rates on less than car load lots was, Mr. Parker said, contrary to the policy he would follow if he were adjusting the rates, though there might be conditions in Texas which would justify the present rates. He himself had no control over rates to Texas, as his roads do not reach Texas directly, but through connecting lines. He believed there would be no opposition on the part of the Texas Railroad Commissioners for a readjustment of the rates along the lines of the complaint filed by Mr. Leeds.

Three-fourths of the freight going to Texas over his lines went in car load quantities. In his opinion the present rates acted to discourage Texas merchants from shipping goods from St. Louis in less than car load lots. The rates, he said, could be brought nearer together without injury to any interest and profit to most. A reduction would not materially injure the business of the Texas globber. He thought that the constantly recurring rate wars on car load lots had little influence in reducing the expenses of the Shippers, as the rates were almost always restored in a short time.

In response to questions Mr. Waite of Spencer, Waite & Bartlett, hardware dealers of Chicago, and J. P. Farley, Manager of the Dallas Free Bureau, Mr. Parker said that he Believed that with a lower less than car load rate the Texas jobbers could still do business wherever they do it at present.

On cross-examination he testified that there was not the same difference in less than car load and car load rates to any other points as there was to Texas points. It was to the interest of railroads to haul freight long distances in less than car load lots.

At this point 'Attorney Hagerman of the M. K. & T. Railway suggested that the

It was to the interest of railroads to haul freight long distances in less than car load lots.

At this point Attorney Hagerman of the M., K. & T. Railway suggested that the Texas connecting lines also be made parties in the complaint. The Commission took the matter under consideration.

Under examination by Frank M. Estes, attorney for the Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Parker said it was his positive opinion that a readjustment of rates would be a material benefit to shippers of cafload lots. It would also benefit the railroads by increasing the volume of freight traffic. He further believed that a manufacturer in St. Louis would make a better profit and do a safer business if enabled to ship goods in quantities in proportion to the means of his customers. Under present conditions many Texas merchants are compelled to buy more goods than they need in order to get the benefit of the car load rate.

He would adjust the matter by raising the car load rates, rather than by decreasing the less than car load rates. The railroads could not afford a reduction of the present tariff scales. It would be impracticable to adjust the rates on a percentage basis, owing to the difference in conditions at various points.

In some cases railroads purposely make a prohibitive rate on certain commodities they did not care to handle. This might in a measure account for the discrepancies complained of.

A. T. Drew, General Freight Agent of the M., K. & T., who testified Monday, was complained of.

A. T. Drew, General Freight Agent of the M., K. & T., who testified Monday, was again put on the stand for cross-examination. He explained the difference in the methods of handling and unloading less than car-load lots and car-load lots, his testimony showing that it was more expensive for the railroad to handle less than car-load lots.

pensive for the railroad to handle less than car-load lots.

W. H. Masters, Manager of the New Orleans Freight Bureau, explained how the competition of jobbers and pressure on the railroads brought about the adoption of the blanket system of rates. The New Orleans blanket system of rates. The New Orleans shippers, he said, wanted rates so adjusted that the less than car load shippers could compete with the car-load shippers. The effect of the present discrepancy has been to force many jobbers to give up their Texas effect of the present discrepancy has been to force many jobbers to give up their Texas trade.

This difficulty, he said, was not found in shipping to the Southeast. He thought that a readjustment would benefit everybody concerned in St. Louis and New Orleans, as well as in Texas. He thought the best readjustment would be to abolish the common point system and inaugurate the mileage system. He testified that the carload rate could not be raised without the consent of the Texas Railroad Commission. On cross-examination by Attorney Hagerman, Mr. Masters said that he had no desire to destroy the Texas jobber, but to compete with him. He said that in the past year, or since the establishment of the present differentials, shipments of rice and sugar from New Orleans had fallen off 75 per cent.

Here the complainant rested its case.

J. W. Van Cleave, representing the St. Louis Manufacturers' Association, was the first witness for the defense. He said that to the local manufacturers the narrowing of the rates would be detrimental to their interests. A reduction of less than car load raites would increase the manufacturer's competition. It was safer and better business to dispose of manufactured goods to jobbers than to retailers. The damage in transit of less than car load shipments almost precluded the shipment of manufactured goods in that way.

He believed that the Southwestern Traffic Association had adjusted the rates for the best interest of all parties concerned. While he did not think that any general readjustment would be fair, in the case of certain commodities it might be advisable to establish new rates, by specific ruling. He thought the raising of car load rates would cause the manufactures to suffer seriously. The same would applys to the reduction of the less than car load rates would cause the manufactures to suffer seriously. He thought the raising of car load rates would cause the manufactures to suffer seriously. The same would applys to the reduction of the less than car load rate. The manufacturers wanted the rates continued as at present.

On cross-examination he said that the manufacturers had no desire to discriminate against the class of people who ship in less than car load fots.

He did not think the present difference in the less than carload and carload rates unusual.

Chairman Morrison shut Attorney Chris-Chairman Morrison shut Attorney Chris-Chairman Morrison shut Attorney Christie off with the statement that his line of questioning was not regular inasmuch as the Commission was not trying Mr. Van Cleave. The attorney had been trying to impeach the manufacturers' motives in wishing the present rates maintained.

C. C. Taylor, an employe of a local furniture company, said that his firm shipped most of its freight in less than carload lots, though they would rather ship in carload lots, as it would cost less and be less expensive. Owing to the present rates they shipped to Texas mostly in carload lots. From the furniture man's standpoint he thought the present system the most equitable possible. He stated that the difference between carload and less than carload rates was greater to Missouri and Kansas points than to Texas points.

A recess was taken until 2:30 o'clock.

It was probably the sensational statement of Judge Russell that brought such an enormous crowd into court. There was the largest attendance since the case was begun. Every seat was occupied and several spectators were forced to stand.

Judge Russell presided in the general term. After stating that he had certified the motion to quash filed by the Election Commissioners and their plea to the jurisdiction of the court to the general term he called for the arguments in support of the motion to quash the bill for a mandamus.

Assistant City Counselor Allen argued for the Election Commissioners. He called attention to the alternative writ issued by Judge Flitcraft directing the return of the Commissioners to be made on Sept. 25 in court room No. 3. The attorneys for the Commissioners, Mr. Allen stated, were present in that court at the appointed hour, but found no Judge present. Judge Flitcraft came in and told them that the matter would be heard in general term. Mr. Allen contended that the entire proceeding was irregular.

In addition Mr. Allen insisted that the writ was a nullity, as Judge Flitcraft to act for another Judge whose court was also in vacation. The case had been assigned to Judge Withrow had adjourned court for the term. THE CARVER CLAIM.

To Be Revived and Pushed Against St.

Paul and Minneapolis. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 29.—The Carver claim to the site of St. Paul and part of Minneapolis, it is reported from Napoleon, O., will be revived and pushed. Capt. Jonathan Carver came to the Northwest in 1766 and lived for a time in what has since been known as Carver's Cave, near the Indian Mounds, where the aborigines buried their dead. For various services these Indians ceded to him about 100 square miles of territory at this point. Later various cessions of land were made by the Indians to the general Government, but no mention was made in any of the treaties of this land, so it was considered an imperfect title. Dr. Carver, a grandson of the old pioneer, came here in 1848 to settle the claim, but Congress would not recognize him or his claim. The original document ceding the land from the Indians to Capt. Carver was for several years kept at the State Historical Library as a curiosity, but was destroyed in the State Capitol fire in 1881. O., will be revived and pushed. Capt.

MISSOURI CROPS.

Frosts in Some Sections, but They Did Little Damage.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 29.—The weekly crop bulletin issued by the Missouri Section, Climate and Crop Service, Weather Bureau, for the week ending Saturday, Sept. 26, says:

The past week has been considerably cooler than usual in all sections of the State, the average daily deficiency in temperature ranging from 5 to 10 degrees, Frost occurred in the northern and central sections on the 20th, 21st, 22d and 23d, and in the southern counties on the 23d and 3th, but did very little damage. In a few localities the rainfall of the week ranged from 1 to 2 inches but over the greater portion of the State was less than I inch and in quite a number of counties there was practically none.

a number of counties there was practically none.
In a few of the northern counties wheat sowing is being greatly delayed by wet weather and but little seeding has yet been done, and in some of the central and south-eastern counties the work has been considerably retarded by dry weather; elsewhere the soil is generally in good condition, seeding is well advanced and the early sown is coming up nicely.

Late corn is now out of danger from frost, except in a few of the northern counties and early corn is being gathered.

Fall pastures are reported dry and short in a few of the central and southeastern counties, but elsewhere are in good condition.

Illinois Crop Bulletin. CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The Illinois weekly weather crop bulletin issued to-day says:
Little or no damage from froat has resulted owing to the advanced stage of all farm products. Farm work has been pushed rapidly during the past week; the soil naving been placed in excellent condition for work by the rains of the previous week. Plowing was general over the State and seeding in central counties.

Thirteen-year-old John Kilculien is a guest of Capt. Peter Joyce at the Third District Police Station. Johnny is a confirmed horse-thief and this is the third time he has enjoyed the hospitality of Capt. Joyce as a result of his peculiar propensity.

The latest achievement of the youngster was the theft in broad daylight of a two-horse team attached to a dirt wagon from in front of 719 Franklin avenue. Julius Goss of 107 North Eleventh street left the team drawn up in the gutter at 129 o'clock Saturday afternoon while he went into a

The other horse had been sold by Johnny to a man on Sixteenth street, between Papin and Gratiet streets, for Jia Johnny was not a judge of horsefiesh, but the purchaser was, as the animal was worth 80. IT STUCK IN HER SKULL Stella Jackson Hit Bertha Thomas With a Meat Ax.

Bertha Thomas, a 21-year-old colored girl, was brought into the City Dispensary Tuesday morning, with an ugly three-cornered hole in her head and a bloody meat ax in her hand. She told her troubles to Dr. Thompson while he dressed her wound.

She had been on terms of armed neutrality with one Stella Jackson, for some weeks, and had been expecting a fight. Tuesday morning as she emerged from her lodgings at 1017 North Tenth street, she met Stella. Stella had on an apron and under it had the meat ax. The ladies exchanged the compliments of the day and then Stella soaked Bertha with the meat ax. Bertha fled with the ax sticking in her skuil. A moment later it fell to the ground, when Stella again got possession of it and gave Bertha another blow with the sharp corner of the weapon.

Dr. Thompson says Bertha's skuil is seriously fractured. She was sent to the City Hospital. Bertha Thomas, a 22-year-old cole

RIDANS TABULES

A reporter called, on Wednesday evening, May 8, 1895. at the residence of Mr. William McMahon, No. 1688 Pearl street, Brooklyn Village (Cleveland), O., to learn, if possible, the cause of the noticeable improvement in his physical condition over that of a year ago, when he was a sufferer from indigestion and various organic disorders. "You see," began Mr. McMahon, "to start with, my work-that of setting type at the case-allows me little chance for bodily exercise, and is altogether too confiining for anybody who is in the least subject to indigestion or dyspepsia. Perhaps not more so than many another mechanic or artisan who is constantly indoors and under severe mental strain, while the physical development is sadly in need of something to keep it in trim. Well, that has been my complaint for years, and some months ago I became very bilious and constipation made life miserable for me at times. Then it took a seat in my LIVER, which became noticeably inactive, and I became alarmed about it. The first thing I turned my attention to was to secure a 'liver regulator,' which, however, failed to regulate: next I sought relief in 'liver pills,' which so pained and griped me that the cure was, I thought, worse than the disease. The next thing I did was to throw away the whole 'shooting match,' and resolve to take no more proprietary medicines. However, on hearing my tale of woe, one day, at the office, a fellow-workman offered me a small Tabule-Ripans, he called it-which, he said, he would guarantee to act on the liver. I took it under protest, expecting to be doubled up in about fifteen minutes with the 'gripes.' But I was agreeably surprised at its action. It was very gentle, and I resolved to try a box. Since then I have gradually noted an entire change in the working of my system, and think that Ripans Tabules are the very best remedy for liver and How closely the Liverpool market—which really reflects European speculative news and legitimate demands—has followed the advance on this side in wheat is shown by a comparison of prices. Taking wheat is shown by a comparison of prices. Taking wheat is shown by a comparison of prices. Taking the second of a week ago, the close last evening in St. Louis and Chicago showed 4%c advance, and the latest case from Liverpool reporting future prices that were also said to nearly 4c per bu higher than those of a week ago. The amount of corn set aftont for Europe last week by exporting countries was 3,952,000 bu, of which 58 per cent from this country and 37 per cent form the Argentine.

Chicago cidims to have a confirmation of the statement that Russia's winter and spring wheat crop this year is 208,000,000 bu. If an estimate of the correspondent of an English trade journalthen, then the statement is confirmed.

"We do not pretend to have any country milling correspondence," remarked the head of a St. Louis elevator, 'but we have received letters from mills it. crop, quite an important feature, being desicient.
At present, however, farmers have to accept as

WHEAT.

It took a very short time this morning to knock 1%c off last evening's closing rate.

There was quite a scamper to sell and the buyers gave the market almost a stand-off during the early break.

It was the increased Russian shipments of over 2,000,000 bu that was the chief weakaning feature, they being 500,600 bu larger than reported yesterday, bringing total world's shipments last week to over 8,400,000 bu.

Receipts of 1,182 cars at Duluth and Minneapolis had a depressing effect, they being 279 cars larger than a week ago, and only 44 cars below those of a year ago.

Winter wheat receipts were also large 50 100 by than a week ago, and only 44 cars below those of a year ago.

Winter wheat receipts were also large, 50,100 bu arriving at St. Louis, against 28,400 bu a year ago, and 323,000 bu at Western markets, against 305,000 bu last year.

Yesterday's stiff advance on this side was reflected in this morning's cables, which reported Liverpool firm and 1½d higher, and cargoes on passage at London 3@6d higher.

Bradistreet's was expected to show little if any change in world's stock last week. The postings showed 157,000 bu decrease in available supplies east of the Rockies, against 2,820,000 bu increase a year ago, and 940,000 bu decrease in available supplies east of the Rockies, against 2,820,000 bu increase a year ago, and 940,000 bu decrease in available in the regular visible last week. European supplies, afloat and ashore, increased 752,000 bu, against 24,000 bu increase a year ago. This made an increase of 105,000 bu in ord'd's stocks, where it increased 2,844,000 bu one year ago.

This had no material effect nor did the late cables, Liverpool shewing idd further advance and Antwerp largely higher. Paris, however, was quiet and Serlin lower. Domestic markets all showed weakness later in the session, the result it was said of realising sales. ales.

Locally there was beavy selling by longs and a reak close in consequence.

THEY MUST JOIN A YELLOW CLUB

RAILROAD MEN THREATENED WITH DISCHARGE.

SECRET BALLOT SAVES THEM.

Many Men Will Join "Sound Money Clubs, Then Vote for Bryan

The railroad officials of Missouri have late-Instead of confining their activities to the transaction of the duties of common carriers under the law, they are instructed to add a new kink to their coercion methods.

There are 40,000 railroad wage-earners in the State. The Wall street bosses propose to force them into what is called by courtesy the "Railway Men's Sound Money' Club."

"The Grand Association of Intimidated Voters" has been suggested as a better name for it.

Tuesday morning all the railroad men in St. Louis were given slips of application for membership in the so-called "Sound Money" Club.

They were printed, on yellow paper and couched in this form:

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

I, the undersigned.

In the employ of the recommendation of the employ of the recommendation of the Railway Men's Sound Money Club of and do hereby pledge myself to use my vote and influence for the defeat of the Free Coinage of Silver at the forthcoming National election, believing that such Free Coinage of Silver would be injurious to my personal interests as an earner of wages as well as disastrous to the United States as a pation.

Signed,

the United States as a nation.

Signed,

Address,

With each slip went an intimation which really took the form of a threat.

It was to the effect that every empleye who couldn't see his way clear to signing the application for membership would soon be looking for another job.

He would be eating anowballs as a steady diet, while the man who joined would have McKinley soup, Hanna roast and Trust pudding all winter.

Parhaps the high-salaried officials of the road who ordered the yellow slips sent out didn't intend to have the matter so coarsely and suggestively put.

They may have had in their mind's eye the Missouri statute which prescribes a penalty for coercion and intimidation.

But the men who carried out the orders had no such scruples They made it very plain that refusal meant discharge.

Every railroad man who received his yellow slip so understood it, too, and while the list of membership of the "Railway Men's Sound Money Club" may be swelled by the resort to such methods, what will happen on election day?

They are dependent upon their positions for bread and butter.

But while the list of membership of the "Railway Men's Sound Money Club" may be swelled by the resort to such methods, what will happen on election day?

Every intimidated employe, every free man who has submitted to coercion for the sake of those at home may so to the polis and vote against the policy and the candidates of the despotic system.

There is in force in Missouri an election law which covers just such cases.

And it so happens in this instance the the corporations which covers just such cases.

And it so happens in this instance the the corporations which covers you up upon election day.

LINDELL BAILWAY CO.'S POLICY OF POLITICAL COERCION.

CONDUCTOR GORDON'S CASE.

He Refused an Offer of Reinstatement Conditioned on His Supporting McKinley.

The Lindell street railway officials were startled Monday when they saw in the Post-Dispatch an account of the manner in which Joseph Gordon, a conductor, lost his job for

be counteracted by making it appear to be untrue.

When Gordon called at the company's offices on Vandeventer avenue, in the evening for his time, Supt. Baumhoff condescended to hold private audience with him and tried to persuade him to take back his job. He counted without his man.

Gordon declined. He said that if he accepted the company would discharge him in a day or two on another pretext.

The officials were intensely angry when Gordon declared that he was a free man, even though he were poor and had a large family, and that he preferred to have his own convictions and hunc for a place elsewhere.

own convictions and huns for a place elsewhere.

Thirteen known Bryan men were dropped from the company's rolls immediately after.

When the offer was made to Gordon by Superintendent Baumhoff to take him back into the employ of the company, the Superintendens said:

"Gordon, you know you didn't do what is right by the company. The company doesn't want Bryan elected, and you oughtn't to take sides against the company."

"I consider that I have a right to my opinion and to vote as I please," answered Gordon.

Then the Superintendent offered Gordon back his place, with the proviso that he should not oppose the politics of the com-should not oppose the politics of the company.

Gordon said he knew well what this meant. He would be put back and then discharged in a day or two on another pretext than that of being a member of the Workingmen's Bryan Club.

"If I am retained," he said, "I would have to sign the pledge to vote for McKinley that a lot of the men have already signed, and I might as well stay out. I intend to vote for Bryan; you know it and there can be but one reason for offering me back my place."

and I might as well stay out. I intend to vote for Bryan; you know it and there can be but one reason for offering me back my place."

Gordon was subsequently asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter if it were true that a pledge to support McKinley had been circulated among employes of the Lindell Street Railway. He said that such a document had been presented to the men at the Chouteau avenue offices by the foreman.

"Many of them signed it," said Gordon, "but I believe every one of them will vote for Bryan. A few refused. The company intends to discharge every Bryan man and henceforth will employ only those who promise to vote for McKinley. Men who ask for jobs on the system will be wise if they say first that they are for Hanna and the gold standard."

Edwards Whitaker, President of the Liniell Street Railway Co., was asked this morning if he were aware of the charges of coercion and intimidation made against the company by Gordon and others. He said that he was.

"Is it not true," he was asked, "that the Lindell Street Railway Co. is discharging men merely because they are for Bryan?"

"I decline to answer that question. I positively refuse to say anything on that point," answered Mr. Whitaker.

"Has not a McKinley pledge been circulated among the employes of the company for them to sign?"

"I will not answer that. The Post-Dispatch hear from me latter."

Mr. Whitaker was reminded that General Superintendent Baumhoff and Private Secretary Padfield were given an opportunity to state their side of the case and that they made no denial of Gordon's statements.

"They told me," said Mr. Whitaker, "that they refused to make any explanation, and they were right. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. We don't have to tell why we discharge our men. "I have had hard luck since going with the Lindell last April," said Gordon. "I had been on only a short time when my car was run into and I was injured so as to lay me up three months. The Lindell gave me during all that time and for the injuries I received in its service $25. Now I am almost without money and have a family of six to provide for. If I am discriminated against on account of my trouble with the Lindell I will have to leave this city. I knew what the outcome would be but I wouldn't give up my manhood for the job."

HAROLD PAYNE'S THIRD OFFENSE.

CRIMINAL

THIS MEANS A LIFE SENTENCE.

His Latest Fall From Grace a Sad Blow to Respectable Parents and a Young Bride.

Harold Payne, who was christened the "Dude Burglar" by the convicts in the Missouri Pentientiary while he was serv-ing time there, has been arrested again and this time, regardless of his promises of reformation and the pleadings of his young wife, Chief Desmond will make an effort to send him to the penitentiary for the rest of his life. This is thought to be possible under the Habitual Criminal act.

Payne is this time accused of entering the residence of A. F. Shapleigh, Jr., of 3538 Delmar avenue, the night of Sept. 10 and stealing therefrom two bicycles.
The evidence against the young man seems complete. Two negroes were arrested Monday who had in their possession two stolen bicycles. Each prisoner was interviewed separately and each said that he had purchased his bicycle from Harold Payne for 55. The wheels were identified by numbers as those stolen from the residence of Mr. Shapleigh.

as those stolen from the residence of Mr. Shapleigh.

Payne is the scion of a respectable family, his father being a reputable merchant, and his brothers occupying positions in the good society of the city.

An order was issued to bring Payne to the Four Courts. Accordingly two officers proceeded to his new home at 2629 Pine street. Four months ago, Paine promised his family that thenceforth he would lead an upright life. He also made this vow to a confiding dittle woman, who loved him more than he knew. His father settled on him a certain amount and a few weeks later he and the loving girl were quietly married. She knew his criminal career, but she felt sure she could reform him.

Five years ago he was arrested and convicted of being one of a number of burglars who had been looting West End residences. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, but had not served much time when he was pardoned at the solicitation of friends of his family.

He had not been out long when he was again arrested, this time accused of breaking into a store at Sixteenth and Chestnut streets and robbing it. He was convicted and sent to the penitentiary for two years. He served the full sentence and was released about a year ago.

Payne says he is not guilty of the Shap-

Pardon for Edward Vocke. Edward Vocke, sentenced to six month in the Work-house last July for petit lar ceny, was pardoned Monday by Gov. Stone The reason assigned was his youth and pre vious good reputation.

C. M. Hardenbergh of Minneapolis Stirs Up a Silver Advocate Also Won't Be Blufed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 25, 1896.—Mr. T. A. Thompson, 1707 Franklin avenue, St. Louis, Mo.: Dear Sir—I am to-day in receipt of American Express order No. 11,116,278 for $30, which I have placed to your credit, account Otter Tail lands.

Note what you say about coming North next year if Bryan is elected. If he is elected you will never occupy your lands. My own feelings are that any man who indorses the Chicago platform (Bryan) is traitor to his country.

C. M. HARDENBERGH. The foregoing is an exact copy of a letter received a day or two ago by T. A. Thompson, a landscape photographer, whose office is at 1707 Franklin avenue.

Mr. Thompson is a Populist and is a stanch supporter of Mr. Bryan. Bimetalstanch supporter of Mr. Bryan. Bimetal ism is nothing new to him as he has made it a study and advocated it for years.

Hardenbergh is the President of the National Milling Company, a wealthy corporation doing business in Minneapolis. Besides being a rich miller and land-owner he is a prominent citizen and a pillar in one of the churches of his city.

The meaning of Mr. Hardenbergh's letter is told in Mr. Thompson's own language.

"Two years ago I made a land deal with Mr. Hardenbergh, and this letter as you see acknowledges the receipt of monky due him for interest. I purchased 240 acres from him in Otter Tail and I have so far paid 370 on the principal, besides the interest. The whole cost of the land was to be 14.40, and $100 per year for three years and $200 per year thereafter for five years. I am now behind $70, but he told me some time ago he would not push me, but it he is in no hurry he will get his money all right.

"Last year I was in Minneapolis and went around to see this same Mr. Hardenbergh, and we talked then about the depression and we talked then about the depression and he said that if the silver cause should win the value of these lands would advance materially. He was then a free colonage advocate, but his letter shows, besides its brutal and threatening terms, that he has become a goldbug.

"When I better the School Director, who had a stable burned Sunday night. In the carriage were Joseph Franklin, Jr., and bubble."

"Last year I was then a free colonage advocate, but his letter shows, besides its brutal and threatening terms, that he has become a goldbug.

vocate, but his letter shows, besides its brutal and threatening terms, that he has become a goldbug.

"When I sent him the order which he acknowledges, I wrote that if Bryan was elected I would go north and raise wheat on the farm, he believing that bimetallism would give the farmer better prices for his products. I thought when I was expressing the hope that Bryan would be elected that I was in harmony with his feeling on the subject. Up to the time I received this letter I believed the stories in the newspapers dealing with various forms of bulldozing and intimidation in the interest of Hanna and McKinley were largely overdrawn, but having received this dose of the same kind, I am prepared to believe these gold standard advocates would stop at nothing short of violence to accomplish Mr. Bryan's defeat. They shout that the supporters of bimetallism are Anarchists and enemies of good Government and yet they resort to methods to throttle the will of the people that are liable to bring disorder in the country. So far as Mr. Hardenbergh is concerned, I will not allow his threat to annoy me, but if he called me a traitor to my face, I would feel very much like avenging the insult then and there.

"T believe I am as good an American as he is. I am for silver from principle because I think it is right and just and for the best interests of the whole people. If I thought it was wrong and un-American I would not support it a minute. Things seem to be coming to a pretty stage when a man cannot take sides with the people in a contest with the money power without being called an Anarchist or traitor. I am going to vote for Bryan if no one else in the country does, and I am no Democrat either. My vote is my own. There may be a mort-gage on the land I bought, but there is none on my American eitzenship or my honor. These men who are seeking to coerce their fellow men into voting against their honest convictions are the real traitors in this campaign."

The Second Legislative and Thirtieth Senatorial conventions were held at Union Capitol Hall, Ninth and Allen avenue.

S. S. Bass was elected Chairman and Michael Arendes, Secretary. With little ceremony Henry C. Doerr of the Twenty-third Ward was nominated for Senator and Frank Steffan of the Third Ward, W. C. H. Arendes, Fifth Ward, and J. W. Cassidy, Twenty-first Ward, were named for Representatives. Mr. Cassidy is a Populist, and was placed on the ticket in accordance with the fusion agreemens.

The Thirty-third Senatorial and Fourth Representative districts held conventions in St. Lawrence O'Toole's Hall, Fourteenth and O'Fallon. Henry C. Brockmeyer, ex-Lieutenant Governor, who has been out of active politics for years, was nominated by acclamation for the State Senate.

In the Representative Convention Thomas P. Dumont, John P. Ratigan and George W. Clifton were nominated for Representatives. Clifton is a Populist and was presented for indorsement in furtherance of the fusion plan.

Clifton is a Populist and was presented to indorsement in furtherance of the fusion pian.

The Fifth District Representative Convention met at Hannaman's Hall, 4829 North Broadway, and nominated Merrifield W. Huff of the Twenty-eighth Ward, George Cline of the Eighth Ward and F. W. Burbach, a Populist.

The Sixth Representative District Convention was held at the Jefferson Club and, like the Third District, it made a ticket without recognizing the fusion agreement with the Populists. H. M. Blossom was Chairman and Clarence Connoily Secretary, J. J. Isaacs, who had been agreed upon by the Populists for the indorsement in this district, sent word that he did not reside in the district and his name was not considered. The fight in this convention was a warm one and John W. Drabelle, who was regarded as the Maffitt candidate, was beaten by one vote. The nominations were given to W. J. Keiley of the Twenty-second and Robert M. Webster of the Twenty-fifth Ward. A resolution instructing the candidates to vote for Senator Vest's reelection was defeated by a vote of 17 to 16.

The Twenty-ninth Senatorial and First Representative District Conventions will be held Tuesday evening.

The convention meets the day following at the Merchants' League Club to nominate a city ticket which Uncle Filley will have prepared for the occasion. The Eleventh Congressional District primaries will be held the same day as the city contests.

The Senatorial and Representative Conventions will be held Oct. 16, at the following places: Twenty-ninth Senatorial and First District Representative, Cherokee Garden; Thirtieth Senatorial, 29 Park avenue; Second Representative District, Dolman and Allen avenue; Thirty-first Senatorial, 1141 Market street; Third Representative, Merchants' League Club; Thirty-third Senatorial, Teutonia Hall, Twenty-second and Montgomery; Fourth Representative, Social Turner Hall, Thirteenth and Monroe; Fifth Representative, Mann's Hall, 480 North Broadway; Sixth Representative, Sheridan Hall, Leffingwell and Easton.

"De Ole Man's" idea of holding a big city convention in such contracted space as the Merchants' League Club Hall affords is not at all to the liking of the candidates who do not train with the club. The hall has scarcely enough room for the delegates, let alone the spectators. The spectators' seats will be held for the Merchants' League Club members and a candidate who has not the support of that organization will have to work his rooters on the outside, as there will be no room on the inside. For the purpose of ratifying the Mosque shate the Central Committee considers the hall abundantily large.

Paul Maher, an inspector in the Sewer De-partment, fell off a Lindell Railway car at Eighteenth and Washington avenue, break-ing a leg and injuring himself internally. He was taken to the City Hospital.

The shoe has not been returned. Miss Mildred Battersby is the greatly troubled young woman. She would not mind the theft if the thief was a tramp who had stolen the shoe to sell it again, but the thief was a man with a silk hat, who took it for its artistic beauty and who probably has if hanging on the wall in his apartments. hanging on the wall in his apartments.

This was the way the shoe was lost. Miss Battersby had read in the newspapers about the Kneipp cure and she concluded to try the experiment of wading in the dewy grass of the early morning. She went out to Forest Park early in the morning of Sept. 23, wearing a pair of shoes she had bought a few days before.

They were very narrow and petite, with heavy wide sole and a delicate tip of patent leather. The shoes were made for chilly mornings and the tops were very high. After the buttons had reached half way up the balance was lace. In fact the tops of

She screamed.

He looked up and then, stopping, picked up one of her stockings. He stuffed the long silk hose into his pocket, shoved a shoe under his coat and ran. She screamed again and started to follow. But she stopped at the tree and sat down and cried.

She drew the remaining stocking on one limb, while on the other foot she placed the shoe and as it was very high it was nearly as good as a stocking.

In that manner she rode home in the car, but she let her skirts hang low on one side to cover the shoeless foot.

Then she advertised her loss, not caring to have her shoe or stocking adorn the apartments of a wicked backler man.

COL. BUTLER'S GREAT HEAD.

Davises a Scheme to Separate Water From Garbage. Col. Edward Butler, the great philan thropist, has a scheme for the emanci-way a novelty, but the scheme itself is somewhat original, Monday there was a gentle protest from the humble official who keeps tab at Col Butler's scales for the city. That gentleman gently ventured a remark to the effect that the wagons which came in to be weighed were mostly filled with water, for which the city was charged the customary 9 cents per 100 pouhais for reducing. Col. Butler, when spoken to about it, said:

"It is very unfortunate, indeed, for that I cannot do better. The law says the wagons must be water tight, and what the law says I do; everybody knows the L. So there is water in the wagons! Garrage always contains from 75 to 90 per cehof water. The scientists will tell you that. "I cannot put a wringer on each wagon to run the slop through when it is loaded, because there has been no machine invented to fit the needs of the case.

"My plan is a simple one. I propose to rig each cart with one of those centrifugal separators such as is used for separating milk from cream and adding to it a sprinkler. After each man gets his cart loaded with his 75 or 90 per cent of water he will turn on his separator and start to sprinkle the streets on his way to the factory. I can throw in a little dash of cologne now and again and let every householder who provides slop have a word in the direction of the work. I am anxious to help the city slong."
